REGRET is generally expressed here, writes an Ichang correspondent to the N.-C. Daily News, that the tricky diplomacy of the exclusive Chinese officials, should have been successful in postponing the proposed visit of the Esk to Changaha, as it is felt that a healthy lesson would have been read the bombastic inhabitants of that city if it was clearly made apparent, and practically demonstrated, to them that their beasted isolation and natural impregnability were not such as to place them out of striking distance of the long and strong arm of the British navy, ready, and willing, to test their much vaunted

THE hanghai Mercury of September 10 save -A serious accident occurred yesterday outside of Messra Boyd & Co. a New Dock, when a heavily laden kerosene lighter fouled the bows of the bulk Menam, moored at the dock gates, and the s.s. Southow, which was moored alongside of her. The lighter got right across the two steamers, with a strong flund tide making, early in the atternoon; the shore mcorings (steel hawsers) carried away, and both vessels came right round on their heels, fouling to some extent the s.s. Charee, and nearly causing serious damage to the steamers Kweiyany and Kweilin in the violaity. The Soochow had actually in anchor out in the stream, but the large Sold in tins containing 10th each, $1.50. lighter across the two vessels, with the full rush of the flood tide was too much of strain 28th " $4.00. on the moorings. The Scocliow could not let go her second anchor, with the kerosens lighter right under it; her anchor would have rendered a final account of kerosene and lighter, besides must probably of some of the Celestials on board. In coming round on her heat, against the dock, with a strong wind blowing her on to the les-PARIS shore, the Socchow twisted her rudder post, and had to have her rudder unshipped and put into order again. This wooldent will probably cause a detention of several days to the Soochow, and will also detain, for some time, the same Company's steamer, Kweiyang, which was going into dock, thus causing a general inconvenience all round to the vessels concerned, from the lighter, which was the primary cause of the accident, to the steamers Soochow, Ghazes, Kweiyang and Kweilin, and the bulk Minam: the latter four vessels were all snugly and safely moored in the river, when our respresentative called at the scene of the accident. No lives were reported as having been lest, but the people on board

THE DISOUSSION ON THE SHARE ORDINANCE. of the discussion on the Share Ordinance by the Chamber of Commurce, which was keepers, clerks, commanders, officers and briefly reported yesterday :---

Hon, E. R. Belilios - Mr Chairman, long speeches have been made in favour of this amondment which has been proposed and seconded but not a word has been said with regard to my principal contention, that in the present circumstances of the Colony this law is essential here. I have all along said that if we had enough money. enough capital dosting in the Colony, I for one would say cert inly repeal the bill. But we have not got the money. Investors buy shares thinking that a certain stock consists, say, of a thousand shares and they are disappointed when they find that the supply of shares is practically inexhaustible. It is increased to two, three or four thousand shares and it is not in the capacity of the holders of these shares to buy the surplus quantity thrown on the market. Consequently those holding bona fide shares are sufferers. It is aimply because we have not enough floating-capital in the Colony that a law of this kind is necessary to protect the weak (applause.) Mr Chantrey Inchbald - It is an old say. ing that 'extremes most,' and it seems to me that we are having an illustration of this fact to-day. When I came to the first meeting I thought that the question was whether the Share Bill of 1891 was to be absolutely in tota approved or absolutely in toto repealed. What is the actual position to-day ! Mr. Bell-Irving at the last meeting in a very moderately worded speech himself admitted that new laws are seldomperfect and he thought that some modification in future might be introduced. To-day in, Mr Grote's speech, tee the same moderation. longer proposes to abolish the Bill proposes merely to modify it -- to modify in such particulars that the Bil shall hold good with regard to shares in financial institutions, but be modified so that you should allow forward sales without the numbers for a period of three months. Mr Francis had told them that the effects of this ordinance were terribly injurious, shares having been going down all the time since it came; into force; but he quite forgot that this was only the oscillation of the pendulum from one extreme to the other. The fact that during that last month or so there had been an improvement in Hongkong Bank shares to to the extent of something like 30 % was enough to prive that the Ordinauco was not altogether fatal to joint-stock enterprise Every encouragement ought to be given to joint-stock enterprise, but some check was required in this colony on the manipulation of stocks. Mr Francis had also told them that three-fourths of the business of the world was speculation. Admitting that to be so, to whom did the bulk of the profits go ! To the middlemon, very carefully by both producers and consumers. He believed a time would come when three-fourths of the world's business would not be speculation but wholesome making and using. Inshore, the large number of junks that line the river bank for two or three miles at this time of the year, also had a morry time and their crews made night hideous with their wails and lamentations as blazing fabric after blazing fabric went drifting down past, and among them. But, notwithstanding the wind being in a direction to blow the flames towards them, they came off tolerably well, although many the peace where foreigners are concerned. must have had narrow, and marvellous, escapes from baving their light, dry mate and upper works set on fire by the passing flames. The fire which broke out shortly after 10 p.m. continued until the early hours of the morning, when it was got under by Chinese appliances, principally because there was no more 'fodder for the fiend to feast on.' The gunboat was unable to render any assistance as Cuptain Burder, Mr-Holman, and all hands were required on board to secure the safety of their own ship. The village that has been nearly destroyed is said by the city officials to have furnished all the rougher element among the rioters here, exactly twelve months since. If this was so, maybe the fire has done a little good by way of giving these gentry other matters to reflect on this year. Although one sympathises a little with the owners of the junks that were burned, such sympathy is, perhaps, misplaced; the crows of these junks are said to have been the principals in the destruction of property last September.

The scene at about midnight was certain. ly imposing, awful, and grand; the flames leaped up from the burning village and cast a lurid light on a dark, background of rugged hill and mountain top and painted the sky with the red glow of warm suffused light; while the fire ships drifteddown among the shipping and lighted up the hill sides. that sprang up from the river bank, and illumined the sides and deck houses totathe steamers, that were doing their best to avoid them, with a weird fantastic outline that revealed shadowy forms armed with light to note its position and give instructions. The whole scone strongly reminded one of those grand old printings of battlepieces where the fire ship is made to play such a prominent and terrible part. The origin of the fire is not yet known, but it is supposed to have started in a junk. Weather is cooling and river falling .-N.-C. Daily News Correspondent.

ASSAULT ON MISSIONARIES IN A missionary writing to the N.-C. Daily News under date 15th August, from the Yangtze Ling, 55 miles N.W. of Chêntu in Szechnan, says: Mr Polbill-Turner and wife with two children and Dr Parry and wife with their youngest child yesterday with us, and the Dootor leaves for the village below, to-day. Mr and Mrs Polhill-Turner stay in the temple with us. They have been subjected to gross ill-treatment at Sungp'an whither they had gone to meet Dr Parry, as Mrs Turner was itl. It was while they were waiting at Sungpian that the natives who were suffering from want of rain came to the conclusion that the foreign missionaries were skilled in accommantio arts and had used these arts to prevent the rain falling. The natives were lashed into fury at this, and made an attack upon the missionaries: Mr Turner was soized, his arms and legs tied he was kicked and struck over the head. and having been overpowered the mob seized his wife and children. While this was going on a military mandariu apparently in order to gain time suggested that the missionaries should be tried before the mob ! proceeded further. This being seceded to they were taken to the yamen and ordered to be beaten, but two native Christians Black (Mr H-) | volunteered to be beaten in their place. The mob was satisfied and the missionaries left Sungplan for this place. The writer also states that the choiera was still bad at Choutu, and that lots of uncoffined bodies were lying outgide the city gates. It was rumoused that the people at the village at the foot of the mountain on which the writer

A HUNAN OFFICIAL AND 'FOREIGN DEVILS.

The Rev. Edward S. Little, Kinkiang writes to the N.-C. Daily News:— An event has just occurred here which ought to be noticed by the public; it will show how much the officials do to keep The facts of the case are as follows:—The Magistrate, whose name is Lo Hwang shu, (羅廣脫), in charge of the district here called Tehhwa shien (德化縣), proceeded on the 16th of the present moon, to a market town 80 li from here called Sha Ho (沙河镇), to hold an inquest on the body of a native who had met his death there a day or two before in a brawl. On the evening of the day he addressed a number of literary mer and gentry and a miscellaneous crowd of people gathered onthe road as follows:—'We Hunan men have no fear of "foreign devils," if you make a riot here do not be afraid for I have the settlement of the case. When I go on the street (foreign) if I meet them

(i.e. foreign devils) they must make way for me or I will run into them. If I had been formerly the Magistrate of this District I would certainly not have allowed the "foreign devils" to have established a Concession.' Besides this there was good deal of other talk like this saying that foreign devils had not come to China for any good purpose and so on. We regard this as quite a serious matter. The place Sha Ho has a character for roughness. We have been in the place a long time and have a dispensary, school. and chapel there, and are well liked by the people. I am there continually. I was there a couple of days after the man referred to died and just before the Magistrate came, and have always been well received. Our dispensary has been opened at the request of a number of people who cars and spars to bear the freships clear of live there. Do not let some of my readers the sides, with now and then an anxions hastily say this is another missionary e ger face peering out into the fierce blazing | trouble, for it is nothing of the kind. The Magistrate is, as is usual with his Hunan countrymen, anti-foreign; for a proof of this witness his statement above in reference to the Concession and his treatment of foreigners when he met them. This is Chinese official politeness, is it? Notice another thing, this man goes out of his district in an official capacity and on official business and while there he openly exhorts the people to riot, and then says that he is the official who will have the settlement of the case and that he will see that they do not suffer for it. Will it be wondered at that the people are bitterly apposed to foreigners and that difficulty is constantly arising when this kind of thing is going on? My renders will also remark his brag about the prowess of the Hunan men. He doubtless knows all about the Hunan placards that were issued last very and that are being just as vigorously issued this year as if nothing had taken place. He also must know about the talk of sending the Esk and a Consul to Hunan and the abandoning of that scheme. A harvest of trouble may be reaped from this

This matter has been put into the hands of the Consul and will be dealt vigorously with we hope. It is too grave an affair to be lightly passed by. The Magistrate ought to be made to put out a proclamation in Sha Ho saying the opposite of what he uttered when last there, and be removed in disgrace from the district.
